"SUFFS" CHARGE PLOT AGAINST PICKET LEADER

District Authorities Are "Railroading" Her to St. Elizabeth's Is Claim.

Charges that the District authorities are engaged in a plot to "railroad" Miss Alice Paul, hunger-striking leader of the White House suffragist pickets, to the insane asylum were made at the headquarters of the Woman's Party last night.

The charges followed a surreptitious visit of two party leaders to Miss Paul, who, with Miss Rose Winslow, her fellow hunger-striker, is held incommunicado in the hospital of the District jail. The pair, with five other suffragists, are serving sentences of seven months for picketing the White House.

"Suffs" Visit Jail. Beyond the announcement of the jail authorities that Miss Paul and Miss Winslow had been taken to the jail hospital, the leaders of the Woman's Party had been for three days without exact knowledge of their whereabouts. Thursday, however, it was learned that the two had been removed to the psychiatric ward of the hospital.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Agnes Morey, of Boston, and Miss Helen Paul, sister of Alice Paul, went to the jail hospital. The pair walked through the grounds, trying to locate the ward in which Miss Paul was incarcerated when they heard her voice from an upstairs window.

This is the story Mrs. Morey says Miss Paul told her: "I have fought every effort to feed me. This morning they told me that I would have to undergo an examination to my mental condition. I objected strenuously, but this afternoon five physicians forced me to undergo the examination. They told me that my mental condition was such that it might be necessary to send me to St. Elizabeth's Hospital."

"I am being systematically persecuted in an effort to break my will and make me give up my fight for decent conditions for the other suffragist prisoners," Mrs. Morey says. "I asked for air and they boarded up my window. I asked for privacy and they took down the iron door, leaving only the bars, while scores of men walk through the corridors."

Headquarters of the Woman's party was working at high tension last night rounding up strength to try a new battle with the law for the freedom of the suffragists. District authorities were denying that there was any trouble. Superintendent Zinkham, of the District jail, and Dr. J. A. Gannon, the jail physician, both stated that Miss Paul and Miss Winslow were fed three times yesterday through a tube without trouble.

"These women are trying to make martyrs of themselves," said Dr. Gannon last night. "As a matter of fact there has been no trouble, whatever. A story smuggled out from Miss Winslow, however, is entirely different. She says Miss Paul, who is frail, could not fight strenuously, but in her own case she declares the effects of the feeding left her gasping for breath for an hour afterwards, while the administering physician and attendants were spluttered with the food as a result of her fight."

Seventeen New York leaders of the party reached Washington last night to take part in a great picketing demonstration before the White House today. More than 25 women will be in the line, which will again flaunt banners before the Executive Mansion in defiance of the authorities.

PRICE OF DESERTION Continued from page one. over the foreign. The Russians have turned their faces toward their own problems. Until they have reached some sort of a solution for these problems they will not again give either their attention or their effort to a foreign war. They are more interested now in the partition of the real estate of Russia than in the rescue of Russia's former Polish provinces.

They are more interested in fighting their own landowners than they are in the conquering armies of Hindenburg or Mackensen. They have established a Utopia at home, which may, and probably will, melt into a state of anarchy with small delay. But neither in Utopia or in the anarchy is there reason for hope that Russia will march again with her allies.

"Suffs" Send Protest To President Wilson

The following telegram sent yesterday to President Wilson by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, was given out by the Woman's party last night: "As chairman of over 4,000 New York women voters, I protest for my organization against the barbarous and inhuman treatment of Alice Paul and Rose Winslow and their comrades now unjustly and illegally detained in the Washington jail."

"Our organization demands that they be given the right granted even murderers to buy the necessary food from the prison store to keep them alive."

"This latest persecution by the administration is causing dangerous popular revolt against the abandonment of the Democratic ideals to which we have pledged our nation."

FINDS WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN DROWNED

Believed Mother Threw Offspring in Cistern Then Jumped In.

Churchville, N. Y., Nov. 9.—John Ratigan found his wife Eleanor, 42, and their three daughters, Eleanor, 7, Mary, 5 and Martha, 3 months old, drowned in the cistern beneath the kitchen floor today. Mrs. Ratigan found this morning. She kept the two older girls from school on the pretext that they had colds.

It is believed she first threw them through the narrow opening into the cistern then dropped in herself. Ratigan found a note written by his wife which read: "There is $1,000 or more in savings bank, Rochester, in my name for all help and everything. Good-bye all. Lena, nerve crazy."

LOOK TO KERENSKY

The majority of those sent from Russia are relayed through Scandinavia. As a result of the defection of our eastern ally, several practical and diplomatic questions must be settled immediately. One is to determine the role to be played by Russia in the coming war conference of the allies in Paris November 12. Representatives from Russia already have been appointed by the Kerensky regime.

As a result the members of the conference are placed in a delicate situation. If these delegates are received from Russia, they will represent a government which does not exist and their actions will doubtless be repudiated by whatever party may be in control November 15. It will be impossible to recognize anyone sent by the Kerenskyists, since their platform is one of unqualified peace.

The final decision as to the course to be followed will be made at the conference, but it seems unavoidable to do otherwise than refuse Russia recognition at the meeting.

CREDITS OF RUSSIA

Great Britain has advanced to Russia perhaps ten times as much as this country. It is estimated that since the war began, Britain has put $2,000,000,000 at the disposal of the Russian government. She was still advancing money and commodities as long as necessary. Japan also has put millions at Russia's command.

If the Maximalists carry out their threats to proclaim a separate peace with Germany, the flow of gold from the United States, Great Britain and Japan will stop short. The Maximalists will have money neither to maintain their government, even if established with any degree of permanency, nor to support an army. They will be unable to obtain munitions and the enormous quantities of modern arms that are now going into Russia.

Hope that Russia still would be found on the side of the allies has not been abandoned either in official or unofficial circles. Indeed, in many quarters it is predicted that the Maximalists may be deposed within a fortnight. A counter revolution would again make the situation safe for the allies. In the belief of persons high in the councils of the government, an official of the State Department summed up his opinion of the danger by saying: "We will wait a week."

Unofficial reports have been received that the northern Russian army has thrown its power with the Maximalists and is on the way to Petrograd.

F. J. RICE NAMED AS ASSISTANT D. C. ATTORNEY

Is One of Washington's Most Prominent Citizens and Erstwhile Athlete.

Frederick J. Rice today takes up his duties as assistant United States District Attorney.

Mr. Rice, who is president of the Columbia Heights Citizens' Association, was yesterday appointed by United States District Attorney John B. Lusk, to an assistant prosecutive position to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of John P. McMahon, as judge of the Municipal Court.

The new assistant to District Attorney belongs to an old Capital Hill family, which was living in Washington before the establishment of the Capital here. Graduated from Eastern High School, he entered Georgetown University, where he was graduated in 1910, after making an enviable record as an athlete at the Hilltop.

Member of D. C. Bar. Admitted to the District Bar in 1911, he finds himself in the office of the United States Attorney after a remarkable successful practice of six years.

Mr. Rice is a member of the District Bar Association and is associated with Alexander H. Bell in the practice of law.

Following the enactment of the draft law, he was appointed a legal representative of the Columbia Heights Citizens' Association, after serving a highly successful first term in that office nearly two years ago.

When Maj. Oliver P. Newman resigned from the District Board of Commissioners, Mr. Rice received the unqualified support of his association for appointment to the vacancy.

He went to the National Democratic Convention in 1912, as an alternate from the District, and was elected to the committee from the District which went from Washington to Sea Girt, New Jersey, to call upon the then President-elect.

He is president of the Capital Benevolent Association, a member of the Monday Evening Club, a director in the Washington Safety First Association, and is on the board of directors in many other District associations.

Mr. Rice married Miss Agnes Downey, some years ago, and has now three children, the oldest a little girl of five now attending the Johnson school in Columbia Heights. He lives at 1522 Columbia road northwest.

FARMS FOR SOLDIERS

great machine which has supplied the armies of Europe is being scrapped.

This country, because of natural advantages will always have the long end of the stick in the production of the raw materials of the soil. Therefore, say these statesmen, prepare to utilize this natural advantage.

These Senators admit that 95 per cent of city men placed on farms have been failures; but they say there is a way to make all this different.

Handled in Colonies. The plan is built upon the principle that city folk, in becoming farmers, must be handled in colonies.

A colony should consist of a minimum of fifty families. Its nucleus is a community center. The community manager is a scientific farmer who knows all the wrinkles about farming and community marketing. He is the demonstration farm of the colony. He goes to the farm of each and shows him how. Under this guidance the city man may grow good crops.

The entire colony is grouped about the community center. A farmhouse is built in accordance with plans of the Department of Agriculture, which has devoted twenty years to the development of the most economical and practical farmhouse. Tools, a cow, a horse, pigs and chickens have been installed.

The settler moves in with all these ready for him. The expense of the whole preparation has been charged up against his farm. The price represents those costs plus a small profit. He is to have twenty years in which to pay for his farm.

When his city-bred family moves into it they do not find the isolation that has driven many predecessors back to the tenements for very loneliness. The community is like a scattered village. The most tion picture show, the social gatherings, the school at the community center furnish an antidote to isolated farm life.

Shows How to Farm. Guidance in farming is the second necessity which the man from the town has not heretofore had. Knowing what to grow and how to grow it has been almost beyond the man who goes into the country without guidance. Here he has the whole problem worked out for him.

When the corps are bountiful their marketing becomes another problem that is most difficult for the single farmer. But fifty of him banded together can buy a community truck. The community manager can study the market of the produce of the fifty farmers. The group of them will have a truckload of produce every day. They sell to advantage. Likewise do they buy to advantage. All their supplies are bought in large quantities and at wholesale rates.

Success under this arrangement is assured.

The man who are to attempt to make this colonization plan a reality believe the government should provide a fund out of which a number of farm colonies of this sort will be immediately laid down. Eventually that money would come back to the government in payment for the farms and could be used again in the same way.

The bulk of the troops on the northern front is reported to have adhered to the Trotsky-Lenin "band" and to be marching to the capital.

Kerensky May Be Dead. It is not altogether certain that Kerensky is still alive, though no one dares believe the whispered rumor that he was done away with during the first phase of the Delegates' Council's anti-revolution. The basis of this rumor is the peculiar circumstance that every one of his whole ministry was rounded up, and it is inconceivable to most how the premier could make his get-away.

Germany has not yet shown her hand. Everything indicates that she is content, for the moment at least, with letting Trotsky and Lenin play her game. But she has thought it expedient to thrust the point of a sharp demerol accord into the Gulf of Finland. There, off Helsinki, the Finnish capital, still hovers a
